Hornet mimic hoverfly

Volucella zonaria

Andrea Norton - Southend Division

Saw this at Pitsea out apiary on Sunday 19th August, it came and landed on our hive as we were packing away. It was huge! Managed to get a decent photo and found out it is a hornet mimic hoverfly.

At almost 2cm long, the hornet mimic hoverfly (also known as the 'belted hoverfly') is the largest hoverfly species in the UK.

As its name suggests, it is an excellent mimic of the hornet, but is harmless to humans. Only a very rare visitor to the country up to the 1940s, it has become more common in Southern England in recent years, and is still spreading northwards, perhaps as a result of climate change. It is particularly prevalent in urban areas. The adults are migratory and the larvae live inside wasps' nests.

Photograph from Andrea Norton - Southend Division

How to identify

The hornet mimic hoverfly is mainly orangey-yellow on the abdomen, with dark bands and a dark brown thorax. It is our largest hoverfly. It can be distinguished from the European Hornet by its much larger eyes, broader body and the lack of a sting.

Distribution Mainly in the South of England, but spreading northwards - probably due to climate changes.

Who's mimicking who here then?

EBKA ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2018

'Bees and Wellbeing'

The theme of our conference is the ways in which bees enrich our lives and make a difference to our world. Bees promote biodiversity by providing essential pollination for a wide range of crops. Honey is becoming a powerful new weapon in the battle against hospital-acquired infections. Being around bees can raise a person's self-esteem and the educational benefits are now being recognised.

Let's learn more from our three speakers.

Speakers:

Bunny Campione, Daws Hall Trust

Many of you will know Bunny from the Antiques Roadshow, but you may not be aware that she is a fellow beekeeper.

Dr Rowena Jenkins, Swansea University Medical School, Department of Microbiology and Infectious Diseases. Rowena is a lecturer in microbiology.

Chris Newenham, Managing Director, Wilkin & Sons Ltd

Chris will be speaking about the importance of bees as pollinators and the collaboration between beekeepers and agriculturists.

Asian Hornet nest in Fowey found and destroyed

September 7 2018 - National Bee Unit

An Asian Hornet nest has been found in Fowey in Cornwall and destroyed by bee inspectors.

It was on Friday 31st August a beekeeper in the Fowey area found 2 Asian Hornets in a trap he'd set up near his beehives. They were positively identified by the Non Native Species Secretariat and a surveillance zone was set up on Tuesday (Sept 4). Killing traps and feeding traps with meat and sweet baits were deployed and there was a lot of hornet activity around them. By timing their visits back to the bait, inspectors from the National Bee Unit were able to track them back to their nest.

The latest nest found on Jersey (opposite)

The nest was detected on Thursday September 6, and destroyed in the evening, when the hornets would have returned to the nest, by using CO2 gas to carry an active ingredient called bendiocarb. The nest was removed the next day at 0700.

It is described as a small nest, about the size of a child's football, and was situated about 1 metre from the ground in a bramble patch.

Genetic analysis is being carried out to see if the hornets are from Europe or a new incursion brought in on goods from China for example. Genetic tests have shown that the Tetbury and Woolacombe nests in 2017 were two separate incursions from France.

Trapping advice

At the moment, Defra is recommending that Monitoring traps are put out by beekeepers in all areas of the country.

Once an Asian Hornet has been positively identified in an area then KILL traps should be used. This is in the expectation that if Asian Hornets are in the area then they will be trapped and identified.

The by-catch in these traps will be small compared to the damage caused to honey bees by the Asian Hornets if the nests are not found.

STOP PRESS: Further sightings in Liskeard and Hull.

different queen introduction cages we were able to see the advantages and disadvantages of the various methods and everyone now understands when to use a nuc or a mini-nuc such as an Apidea. We rounded off the meeting with a delicious BBQ in the sunshine – it was a truly wonderful event.

Our June apiary meeting was held at Cressing Temple Barns. Members were divided into three groups and we rotated between hive inspection and guided tours of the gardens and barns. This was another memorable meeting. Last year we held a similar event at Layer Marney Tower as the owners are beekeepers and members of Braintree Division.

Our members are spread across a wide area and our other apiary meetings in 2018 were held in Felsted, Great Totham, Chignal St James and at our divisional apiary in Coney Green. Each apiary meeting enabled members to view a range of hives, to solve different problems and the tea and cakes afterwards provided a good opportunity for further discussion.

As we move inside for the winter we have more interesting meetings planned. In November, Dr Sara Robb will be showing us how to make honey soap and everyone will take home a sample. December is Braintree's Honey Show and while judging takes place, we will make origami Xmas decorations guided by a Japanese expert in the craft. This is our Xmas Social and friends and family are welcome as long as they join in - last year the special activity was willow weaving to make a Xmas wreath. And, we must not forget that we're hosting the EBKA Annual Conference in November and the other roles that come with it such as running the EBKA AGM and catering for the County Honey Show. So we're having a busy 2018.

The Committee is now thinking of our 2019 programme and there is no shortage of volunteers to hold apiary meetings and we have some interesting speakers lined up. Members have requested a visit to a honey production facility to watch the bottling process and we have asked if one of our bee-farmers can host this. We are also negotiating a visit to the apiary at Paycocke's House and Garden in Coggeshall which is run by the National Trust (a Group Member of Braintree Division).

2019 is going to be another good year for Braintree Division.

131st ANNUAL ESSEX HONEY SHOW

Show Secretary's Report

Another memorable Essex Show at Orsett on 1st September.

The sun was shining, the general public were out in force and so were the Essex Beekeepers. We would like to express our gratitude you to all our Volunteers, over 55 of you, who manned our Marquee and presented our Show in true style. Although this is only a 1 day Show there were also plenty of other events going on in the showground which always helps to draw in the crowds.

Braintree Division did extremely well supplying a thirsty band of volunteers with refreshments as well as presenting a lovely lunch - there was plenty for everyone. Well done to their organisers and ladies in the kitchen area.

This was our biggest show for some years; with 80 exhibitors entering 350 exhibits - there was definitely plenty to see. Well done to everyone. A new innovation - with every exhibitor being given a mark towards their Division's grand total for entering - made it unsure who was going to win the President's Cup. Well done Harlow for coming out on top.

This year sees the Centenary of 3 of our Divisions: Chelmsford, Saffron Walden & Epping Forest. To celebrate the occasion a special display was set up in the marquee, manned by Chelmsford members, showing how beekeeping has evolved over the years.

There is always a lot of work involved in setting up the show and well done to all those involved – a terrific job. This was helped by well organised, accommodating and helpful showground management. Again, they were extremely happy with the marquee and display and are encouraging us to return again next year – as this was a very successful day.

A year in the life of Braintree Division

Jan French / Clive de Bruyn

At Braintree we hold all our summer meetings at different members' apiaries – and what a great way to enhance our skills and to visit some interesting places. We are coming to the end of the season and have had some fantastic venues and hospitality.

Michael Coe, Mick Lovell and John Barlow at the Queen Introduction demonstration
Photograph by Clive de Bruyn

Our August meeting was hosted by two of our bee-farmers, John Barlow and Mick Lovell, also present were Clive de Bruyn and Mike Coe of Great Tilkey Honey.

The theme of the meeting was queen introduction and we learnt from the experts. The meeting was held at John and Mick's queen rearing apiary in Wethersfield and Clive provided 10 queens. Clive opened the meeting with a brief introduction on the 10 queens provided, showing the different types of travelling cage and how to make the fondant plugs using honey and icing sugar.

This was followed by hands-on experience of queen introduction using different techniques – for example, John often uses newspaper at the end of the cage held in place with an elastic band rather than a plug of fondant.

Thirty members attended plus visitors from Chelmsford and Saffron Walden divisions. We divided into two groups and Mick and John showed us their preferred method of queen introduction. Four queenless nucs had been set up and we also used full sized colonies to enable members to find and dispatch the queens. Some queens were in travel cages with their workers and we learnt how to transfer the queen to an introduction cage, whereas others were alone in their introduction cages and this was a much more straight forward procedure.

Members were given the opportunity to clip, mark and introduce queens which is something that many have never attempted. Through the use of
